FACT BOOK

2005

WALLACE
COLLEGE

Preface

The Office of Planning and Institutional Research is proud to present the seventh edition of the Wallace Community College Fact Book. The purpose of the Fact Book is to provide comprehensive information and easy access to the most frequently requested data about the College. It can be used for planning, decision-making, policy formation, and as a public relations tool.

The Fact Book is an annual publication which provides data for the previous academic year and is produced during the fall semester. As you review and use this publication, please make a note of items that you feel should be added or deleted. Continued improvement is the goal, and current and future publications of the Fact Book will reflect suggestions for change.

Much of the information contained in the Fact Book is extracted from administrative reports produced on an annual basis by the MIS Department. I appreciate the expert assistance and cooperation received from Mr. Frank Barefield, MIS Director. I would also like to thank Ms. Kecia Workman for her valuable assistance in completing this year's publication.

Dr. Shana Gartlan
Director, Planning and Research

COLLEGE PROFILE

Wallace Community College (WCC) is a public, two-year college serving Barbour, Bullock, Coffee, Dale, Geneva, Henry, Houston, Pike, and Russell counties and the contiguous counties in Georgia and northwest Florida. The College has two campuses—the Wallace Campus in Dothan and the Sparks Campus in Eufaula. Additionally, the College offers classes at a center in Fort Rucker and provides skills training at correctional facilities in Clayton and Clio, Alabama. The College offers programs in academics, allied health and nursing, and career and technical fields. WCC also provides opportunities not only to the residents of its service area but to anyone who has access to the Internet through numerous distance education courses.

Moreover, the College provides programs through our Adult Education and Workforce Development departments. These programs include courses in GED Preparation, English as a Second Language, non-credit and continuing education short courses, and custom-designed, short-term training for local businesses and industries. As a licensed Work Keys Service Center, WCC enables business and industry partners to better match the requirements of their job openings to the skills of their job applicants.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

In 1997, the Alabama State Board of Education and the Alabama Commission on Higher Education (ACHE) approved the proposed merger of Alabama Aviation and Technical College and George C. Wallace Community College. Following approval by these agencies, the College hosted a substantive change visit by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) in September 1998. The Commission granted final approval of the consolidation of the two institutions in December 1998.

In March 1999, the merger process between Sparks State Technical College and George C. Wallace Community College was initiated. By October 1999, both the Alabama State Board of Education and ACHE had approved the merger. A substantive change visit by the Commission on Colleges of SACS was conducted in January 2000 and final SACS approval of the consolidation received in June 2000. In December 2002, Wallace Community College began the process of separation from the Aviation Campus in Ozark. In December 2002, the Chancellor of the Alabama College System announced the process of realignment of the Aviation Campus with the former Enterprise State Junior College; the realignment was completed in 2003. Brief histories of the Wallace Campus, Sparks Campus, and the Fort Rucker Center follow.

Wallace Campus

The George C. Wallace State Technical Trade School was established by the Alabama Regional Trade School Act of 1947. The first students, 13 in all, enrolled in the school's Sheet Metal program in January 1949. In 1955, the name of the institution was changed to George C. Wallace State Vocational Trade School. On May 3, 1963, the Alabama State Legislature decreed that a junior college be developed on the technical school site, and the institution became George C. Wallace State Technical Junior College. In response to a recommendation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the technical school and junior college were united in 1969 to form South Alabama's first comprehensive community college. The Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accredited George C. Wallace State Community College to award associate degrees and certificates in 1969; accreditation was reaffirmed in 1973, 1984, 1994, and 2002.

Sparks Campus

Sparks State Technical School, named for former Alabama Governor Chauncey Sparks, began operating on July 6, 1966, with an enrollment of 44 students. In 1968, the name was changed to Sparks State Technical Institute. With the offering of the associate in applied technology degree in 1974, the name became Sparks State Technical College, and the College was accredited by the Commission on Occupational Education Institutions (COEI) of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Since that time, COEI has evolved into the Council on Occupational Education (COE), a national accrediting agency for technical institutions. The College was reaffirmed for COE accreditation in 1998. Sparks also provides correctional education programs at Easterling Correctional Facility in Clio, Alabama, and Ventress Correctional Facility in Clayton, Alabama.

Fort Rucker Center

In 1989, Wallace Community College began offering classes at the center located in Fort Rucker, Alabama. Technical programs for college credit are available to service members, their spouses and eligible dependents, retired military service members, civil service employees, reservists, and the general public. Fort Rucker Center programs are approved by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Service members are awarded credit for military service schools in accordance with recommendations published by the American Council on Education in A Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services.

Institutional and Professional Accreditation

Wallace Community College is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award Associate degrees and certificates.

PRESIDENTS OF WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Linda Young is very proud of the fact that she's a product of Alabama's two-year college system. She began her college work at Enterprise State Junior College (ESJC) after graduating as valedictorian of her class at Elba High School. She received an associate in arts degree from ESJC, both her bachelor's and master's degrees from Troy State University, and a doctorate from Auburn University.

Linda taught two years in K-12, and the remainder of her work has been in Alabama's two-year college system. She worked at Enterprise State Junior College in a variety of jobs, at the Department of Postsecondary Education as Executive Assistant to the Chancellor, and at Lurleen B. Wallace Junior College in Andalusia as Dean of Academic Affairs. In 1988, she was appointed president of Sparks State Technical College in Eufaula. With that appointment, she became the first female in history to head a technical college in Alabama. In 1999, Sparks was merged with Wallace Community College, and Linda was appointed president of the newly merged institution. Wallace Community College has instructional sites in Dothan, Eufaula, Fort Rucker, and the two prisons in Barbour County.

Linda Young has served in a variety of civic organizations and professional associations over the years. She has served as president of the Eufaula/Barbour County Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Barbour County United Way. She is a graduate of the Leadership Alabama program and currently serves on its Board of Directors. She also serves on the Board of Directors of the Dothan Area Chamber of Commerce, the Dothan Rotary Club, and the Alabama Technology Network. Linda is a member of the Fort Rucker-Wiregrass Chapter of the Association of the United States Army (AUSA), the Ozark Economic Development Advisory Board, the Bevill Center for Electronics Technology Board of Advisors, and Wiregrass Forum. Governor Bob Riley appointed her to his Education Spending Commission and to the Alabama Workforce Planning Council. Linda was named a Paul Harris Fellow by the Eufaula Rotary Club in 2001.

WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTANCE EDUCATION

Wallace Community College offers instruction through the use of the Internet. Students can enroll in an Internet course from anyplace in the world using any computer platform at any time of the day or night. Information and resources can be accessed as long as the student has a computer with an Internet connection. These courses are convenient to students, to instructors, and to the College. Students can register, do coursework, conduct research, and communicate with the instructor via the Internet without having to leave their home or office. Instructors can update course materials with relative ease and provide guidance and support without being confined to a classroom and office hours. This learning process stresses active participation and interaction from both instructors and students. It creates a medium of collaboration, conversation, discussions, exchange, and communication of ideas while extending the boundaries of traditional classroom learning.

WCC Library

The Learning Resources Center System (LRC) provides various resources for students, faculty, and staff members to support college and lifelong learning. LRC System services are provided at all locations including the two campuses, and two sites. LRC facilities are located on the Wallace Campus in Dothan and the Sparks Campus in Eufaula.

The LRC System provides resources in various formats for faculty and students at all locations. Access to LRC System resources is available through the College's Web-based on-line public access catalog-Voyager. In addition, the Alabama Virtual Library (AVL), a state supported WEB site of essential periodical and information resources, is accessible on-line. The LRC System also provides access to over 40,000 e-books through the NetLibrary database. The Voyager, NetLibrary, and AVL databases are also accessible for College patrons at home through the WCC homepage. The LRC System participates in interlibrary loan services and cooperative agreements with area libraries. In addition to the bound collections, basic reference sources, periodical subscriptions, various media, and electronic and on-line databases are provided for all students including distance learning.

The LRC System houses a collection of approximately 43,000 bound volumes, over 1,100 media resources, approximately 200 periodical subscriptions, and computers with Internet access. Special collections on the Wallace Campus include the Teacher's Collection, the Children's Book Collections, and an Alabama Collection.

LRC identification cards are required to checkout materials and may be obtained at the circulation desks. Also, Alabama Virtual Library (AVL) cards, which provide home access to the AVL, are available for faculty, staff, and students. Students participate in an orientation program designed to assist them in using LRC resources to enhance learning and research opportunities. In addition, a Research Skills class is taught by the librarians at the request of the individual instructors. Computers, microfiche readers and printers, photocopiers, and viewing and listening centers are available for patron use.
