WALLACE
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Preface

The Institutional Effectiveness Department is proud to present the sixteenth edition of the Wallace Community College (WCC) Fact Book. The purpose of the Fact Book is to provide an annual statistical history of WCC's progress and information related to the College's mission, programs, and services. This information can be used for planning, decision-making, policy formation, and public relations.

The Fact Book is an annual publication that provides data for the previous academic year and is produced during the fall semester. As you review and use this publication, please make a note of items that you feel should be added or deleted. Continued improvement is the goal, and current and future publications of the Fact Book will reflect suggestions for change.

Much of the information contained in the Fact Book is extracted from data maintained by the College's administrative system. However, without the cooperation and assistance of the faculty and staff who supplied external data concerning their areas of responsibility, the task of completing the Fact Book would be monumental. Thank you for your time, efforts, and contributions to this project. I would also like to thank Ms. Sheila McKnight for her valuable assistance in completing this year's publication and Ms. Barbara Thompson, Ms. Angila Brannon, and Ms. Marcia Hudson for providing the photographs.

Director, Institutional Effectiveness

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

In 1949, George C. Wallace State Technical Trade School was established by the Alabama Regional Trade School Act of 1947. In 1955, the name of the institution was changed to George C. Wallace State Vocational Trade School, and on May 3, 1963, by decree of the Alabama State Legislature, the institution became George C. Wallace State Technical Junior College. In response to a recommendation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), the technical school and junior college were united in 1969 to form south Alabama's first comprehensive community college. The Commission on Colleges of SACS accredited George C. Wallace State Community College to award associate degrees and certificates in 1969, and accreditation was reaffirmed in 1973, 1984, and 1994. On November 12, 1996, the name of the institution was changed to George C. Wallace Community College, and the College was reaffirmed for accreditation in 2002 and 2012.

The 1997 merger between Wallace Community College and Alabama Aviation and Technical College in Ozark and Mobile was followed in 1999 by the merger of Wallace Community College and Sparks State Technical College in Eufaula. In 2003, the Aviation Campus in Ozark and Aviation Center in Mobile merged with a local junior college to enable it to become a community college. Wallace Community College now includes the Wallace Campus in Dothan and the Sparks Campus in Eufaula. Wallace Community College also provides educational programs at Easterling Correctional Facility in Clio, Alabama, and Ventress Correctional Facility in Clayton, Alabama.

PRESIDENTS OF WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Dr. Linda C. Young is very proud that she is a product of Alabama's Community College System. She began her college work at Enterprise State Junior College (ESJC) after graduating as valedictorian of her class at Elba High School. She received an associate in arts degree from ESJC, both her bachelor's and master's degrees from Troy University, and a doctorate from Auburn University.

Dr. Young taught three years in K-12, and the remainder of her work has been in Alabama's Community College System. She worked at Enterprise State Junior College in a variety of jobs, the Department of Postsecondary Education as Executive Assistant to the Chancellor, and Lurleen B. Wallace Junior College in Andalusia as Dean of Academic Affairs. In 1988, she was appointed President of Sparks State Technical College in Eufaula. With that appointment, she became the first female to head a technical college in Alabama. In 1999, Sparks was merged with George C. Wallace Community College-Dothan, and Dr. Young was appointed President of the newly merged institution. Wallace Community College has instructional sites in Dothan, Eufaula, and two prisons in Barbour County.

Dr. Young has served in a variety of civic organizations and professional associations over the years. She served as the 2008-09 Chair of the Dothan Area Chamber of Commerce and has served on the Executive Committee and Board of Directors. She is also a past steering committee member for ENVISION, an area strategic planning process. She is a past president of the Eufaula/Barbour County Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Barbour County United Way. Governor Bob Riley appointed her to his Education Spending Commission and to the Alabama Workforce Planning Council. Appointed by the Chancellor, Dr. Young currently serves on the Joint Task Force on Correctional Education and chairs the Workforce Development/ATN Subcommittee for Policy Review.

WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTANCE EDUCATION

Wallace Community College offers instruction through the Internet. Students can access an Internet course from anywhere in the world using any computer platform at any time of the day or night. Information and resources can be accessed as long as the student has a computer with an Internet connection. These courses are convenient to students, to instructors, and to the College. Students can register, complete coursework, conduct research, and communicate with their instructor via the Internet without having to leave their home or office. Instructors can update course materials with relative ease and provide guidance and support without being confined to a classroom and office hours. This learning process stresses active participation and interaction from both instructors and students. It creates a medium of collaboration, conversation, discussions, exchange, and communication of ideas while extending the boundaries of traditional classroom learning.

Wallace Community College Library

The Learning Resources Centers (LRC) System provides various resources for students and faculty and staff members to support College programs and lifelong learning. LRC System services are provided at all instructional locations. Learning Resources Centers are located on the Wallace Campus in Dothan and the Sparks Campus in Eufaula.

The LRC System provides resources in various formats for faculty members and students at all College locations. Access to LRC resources is available through the College Web-based online public access catalog. The Alabama Virtual Library (AVL), a state-supported Web site of essential periodical and information resources, is also accessible online. The LRC System provides access to approximately 150,000 e-books through the EBSCO E-books database. The Alabama Virtual Library, the Wallace Community College Library Catalog, Bloom's Literature Reference Collection, Congressional Digest Debates Online, EBSCO E-books, JSTOR Collection, Lexis Nexis, OVID Nursing Collection, ProQuest Nursing and Allied Health Source, Salem Press Reference Collection, and Credo Reference are accessible at remote locations for College patrons through the Wallace Community College website. The LRC also provides, basic reference sources, print periodicals, and various other resources. These resources are available to all students, including those participating in distance learning. In addition, the LRC System participates in interlibrary loan services and cooperative agreements with area libraries.

The LRC System houses a collection of approximately 42,000 bound volumes, 1,400 media resources, and 150 print periodical subscriptions as well as computers with Internet access. Special collections on the Wallace Campus include the Teacher's Collection, the Children's Book Collection, and an Alabama Collection.

Identification cards are required to check out materials and may be obtained at the circulation desks. Also, Alabama Virtual Library (AVL) cards, which provide home access to the AVL, are available for students and the faculty and staff. Students participate in an orientation program designed to assist them in using LRC resources to enhance learning and research opportunities. In addition, research skills classes are taught by the librarians at the request of individual instructors. Computers, printers, photocopiers, and viewing/listening centers are available for patron use.
