About the Certified Nursing Assistant Program...

The Wallace Community College Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) program is patient-centered and prepares nurse assistants to respond to the needs of the elderly and disabled, many of whom are residents of nursing homes, assisted living and long-term care facilities, and hospitals.

The WCC program meets all requirements from both state and federal levels. The "user-friendly" curriculum accommodates students with diverse educational backgrounds and learning styles.

Nurse assistants perform approximately 90% of a patient's hands-on care. Students, therefore, learn to establish a relationship with the resident/patient and to take measures to preserve the individual's dignity, privacy, and independence. Students also study infection control and learn safety procedures and communication techniques that are important to a quality healthcare team.

Upon completion of this 25-day program, students take the state certification exam. Upon passing, program graduates are listed in the state registry as a certified nurse assistant.

Wallace Community College affords equal opportunity to all employees and applicants for admission or employment regardless of race, gender, religion, national origin, age, or disability. WCC will make reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities.
