Preface

The Institutional Effectiveness Department is proud to present the ninth edition of the Wallace Community College (WCC) Fact Book. The purpose of the Fact Book is to provide an annual statistical history of WCC's progress and information related to the College's mission, programs, and services. This information can be used for planning, decision-making, policy formation, and public relations.

The Fact Book is an annual publication which provides data for the previous academic year and is produced during the fall semester. As you review and use this publication, please make a note of items that you feel should be added or deleted. Continued improvement is the goal, and current and future publications of the Fact Book will reflect suggestions for change.

Much of the information contained in the Fact Book is extracted from data maintained by the College's administrative system. However, without the cooperation and assistance of the faculty and staff who supplied external data concerning their areas of responsibility, the task of completing the Fact Book would be monumental. Thank you for your time, efforts and contributions to this project. I would also like to thank Ms. Cheryl Trawick for her valuable assistance in completing this year's publication and Ms. Sally Buchanan for providing the photographs.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

In 1949, George C. Wallace State Technical Trade School was established by the Alabama Regional Trade School Act of 1947. In 1955, the name of the institution was changed to George C. Wallace State Vocational Trade School, and on May 3, 1963, by decree of the Alabama State Legislature, the institution became George C. Wallace State Technical Junior College. In response to a recommendation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), the technical school and junior college were united in 1969 to form south Alabama's first comprehensive community college. The Commission on Colleges of SACS accredited George C. Wallace State Community College (WCC) to award associate degrees and certificates in 1969, and accreditation was reaffirmed in 1973, 1984, 1994, and 2002.

The 1997 merger between WCC and Alabama Aviation and Technical College in Ozark and Mobile was followed in 1999 by the merger of WCC and Sparks State Technical College in Eufaula. In 2003, the Aviation Campus in Ozark and Aviation Center in Mobile merged with Enterprise State Junior College to enable it to become a community college. WCC now includes the Wallace Campus in Dothan, the Sparks Campus in Eufaula, the Fort Rucker Center, and the Center for Economic and Workforce Development located on Hwy. 231 North in Dothan. WCC also provides correctional education programs at Easterling Correctional Facility in Clio, Alabama, and Ventress Correctional Facility in Clayton, Alabama.

PRESIDENTS OF WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Dr. Linda C. Young is very proud of the fact that she's a product of Alabama's two-year college system. She began her college work at Enterprise State Junior College (ESJC) after graduating as valedictorian of her class at Elba High School. She received an associate in arts degree from ESJC, both her bachelor's and master's degrees from Troy State University, and a doctorate from Auburn University.

Dr. Young taught two years in K-12, and the remainder of her work has been in Alabama's two-year college system. She worked at Enterprise State Junior College in a variety of jobs, at the Department of Postsecondary Education as Executive Assistant to the Chancellor, and at Lurleen B. Wallace Junior College in Andalusia as Dean of Academic Affairs. In 1988, she was appointed president of Sparks State Technical College in Eufaula. With that appointment, she became the first female to head a technical college in Alabama. In 1999, Sparks was merged with George C. Wallace Community College-Dothan, and Dr. Young was appointed president of the newly merged institution. Wallace Community College has instructional sites in Dothan, Eufaula, Fort Rucker, and two prisons in Barbour County.

Dr. Young has served in a variety of civic organizations and professional associations over the years. She has served as president of the Eufaula/Barbour County Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Barbour County United Way. She is a graduate of the Leadership Alabama program. She serves on the Executive Committee of the Dothan Area Chamber of Commerce and is chair-elect of the Chamber. She is also a steering committee member for ENVISION, an area strategic planning process. Dr. Young is a member of the Dothan Rotary Club, the Fort Rucker-Wiregrass Chapter of the Association of the United States Army (AUSA), the Alabama Technology Network-Eufaula Center Board of Advisors, and Wiregrass Forum. Governor Bob Riley appointed her to his Education Spending Commission and to the Alabama Workforce Planning Council. Dr. Young was named a Paul Harris Fellow by the Eufaula Rotary Club in 2001.

WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTANCE EDUCATION

Wallace Community College offers instruction through the use of the Internet. Students can enroll in an Internet course from anyplace in the world using any computer platform at any time of the day or night. Information and resources can be accessed as long as the student has a computer with an Internet connection. These courses are convenient to students, to instructors, and to the College. Students can register, do coursework, conduct research, and communicate with the instructor via the Internet without having to leave their home or office. Instructors can update course materials with relative ease and provide guidance and support without being confined to a classroom and office hours. This learning process stresses active participation and interaction from both instructors and students. It creates a medium of collaboration, conversation, discussions, exchange, and communication of ideas while extending the boundaries of traditional classroom learning.

WCC Library

The Learning Resources Center System (LRC) provides various resources for students, faculty, and staff members to support college and lifelong learning. LRC System services are provided at all locations including the two campuses, and two sites. LRC facilities are located on the Wallace Campus in Dothan and the Sparks Campus in Eufaula.

The LRC System provides resources in various formats for faculty and students at all locations. Access to LRC System resources is available through the College's Web-based on-line public access catalog-Voyager. In addition, the Alabama Virtual Library (AVL), a state supported WEB site of essential periodical and information resources, is accessible on-line. The LRC System also provides access to over 40,000 e-books through the NetLibrary database. The Voyager, NetLibrary, and AVL databases are also accessible for College patrons at home through the WCC homepage. The LRC System participates in interlibrary loan services and cooperative agreements with area libraries. In addition to the bound collections, basic reference sources, periodical subscriptions, various media, and electronic and on-line databases are provided for all students including distance learning.

The LRC System houses a collection of approximately 45,000 bound volumes, approximately 1,200 media resources, and approximately 200 periodical subscriptions, as well as computers with Internet access. Special collections on the Wallace Campus include the Teacher's Collection, the Children's Book Collections, and an Alabama Collection.

LRC identification cards are required to checkout materials and may be obtained at the circulation desks. Also, Alabama Virtual Library (AVL) cards, which provide home access to the AVL, are available for faculty, staff, and students. Students participate in an orientation program designed to assist them in using LRC resources to enhance learning and research opportunities. In addition, a Research Skills class is taught by the librarians at the request of the individual instructors. Computers, microfiche readers and printers, photocopiers, and viewing and listening centers are available for patron use.
