WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE NAME USAGE

Consistent and intentional naming reinforces the College's identity and credibility across all communications. Always use Wallace Community College on first reference. This ensures clarity, reinforces brand recognition, and maintains professionalism across internal and external messaging. Subsequent references should follow specific guidelines based on audience and context, as outlined below.

- Use Wallace Community College or WCC when communicating within our local service area
- Use Wallace Community College-Dothan or WCCD when addressing audiences outside the region.
- In informal contexts such as social media, casual promotion, or speaking, "Wallace" is acceptable. "Wallace College" should be avoided and should not appear in written or promotional materials. After the first mention, "the College" (capitalized) may be used in place of the full name.
- The proper campus names are Wallace Campus in Dothan and Sparks Campus in Eufaula. Informal use of "Dothan" or "Eufaula" is permitted, but geographic references should be consistent
(e.g., say "Dothan and Eufaula," not "Dothan and Sparks")

Please consult with the marketing department if you are unsure which naming format is appropriate for your audience or communication channel.

WALLACE COMMUNITY COLLEGE LOGO

The Wallace Community College logo is the most visible representation of the institution's brand and must be used consistently. The logo system supports different communication needs while maintaining a unified visual identity, and the correct logo should be selected based on context, audience, and legibility.

PRIMARY MARK

The Primary Mark is a simplified brand identifier used in small spaces, such as social media avatars, icons, and other compact applications where the full logo is not practical. It should be used when the Wallace Community College brand is already clearly established or when space and legibility are limited.

INSTITUTIONAL TAGLINE

The Institutional Tagline version of the logo includes both campus locations below the tagline and is used for communications relevant to all campuses. It should be applied only when messaging is intended for a multi-campus audience and not for single-campus or general materials.

INCORPORATING THE ACCS LOGO

The Alabama Community College System (ACCS) encourages member institutions to feature the ACCS logo on all official materials and communications whenever possible. Displaying the logo acknowledges the system's support and reinforces the partnership between the college and ACCS.

VERTICAL CO-BRANDED LOCKUP

INCORRECT USE OF THE LOGO

The logo is the centerpiece of the Wallace Community College visual brand and should only be used in the style of applications shown on page 4. Below are incorrect uses of the logo that should always be avoided when used in conjunction with any College activities and materials.

DEPARTMENT LOGOS

This version of the logo has been developed for use by each of the college departments. There is a horizontal and a vertical version of this logo template as well as a white version for use on photos and/or fields of color.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT LOGOS

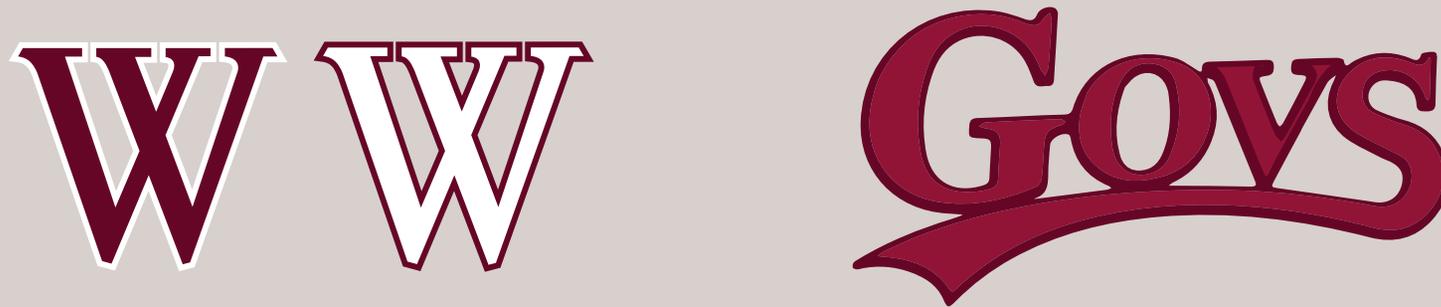

The primary Athletic logos should only be used in the forms shown here for the approved athletic. The primary athletic logos represent Wallace Community College Athletics and are reserved for official use by teams and athletic departments. These marks are not substitutes for the institutional College logo and should not be used in non-athletic contexts.

SPECIALIZED ATHLETIC LOGOS

Specialized athletic logos include both sport-specific and general-use designs, such as the script “Govs,” the unlocked “W,” and the “Gov Man.” These marks are approved for use across all sports but should remain within athletics-related applications. Please consult with the marketing department before incorporating any specialized logo into apparel, merchandise, or promotional materials.

BUSINESS COLLATERAL

Collateral materials should always follow Brand Standards guidelines. These include business cards, letterhead, and envelopes.

ADVERTISING

For the purpose of billboards and other forms of advertising, WCCD has preferred standards/guidelines, and all advertising efforts from the College should follow those guidelines. Please include PR in all advertising design efforts even if through an outside designer. All advertising must have PR approval before running.

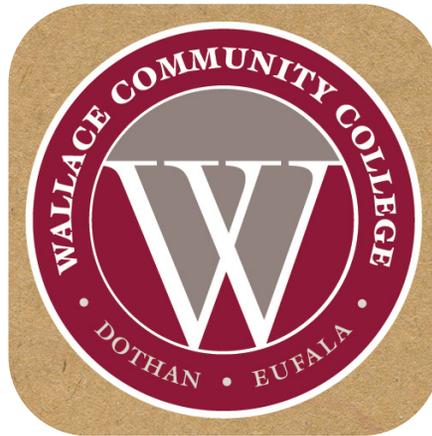

PROMOTIONAL ITEMS AND APPAREL

All promotional merchandise—including apparel, team spirit items, and giveaways—should adhere as closely as possible to the brand colors outlined in this guide. Consistent use of approved colors helps maintain a unified and recognizable visual identity across all departments and events.

Depending on the color of the promotional item, the logo may need to be inverted. Before placing any order, please consult the Marketing Department to ensure brand standards are met and avoid unnecessary reprints or delays.
